HW:

Too soon to say, but this looks like it might be the beginning of a pre-emptive leak campaign to prepare the public for more to come. Nothing like raking up the old ignored angles to distract attention from serious information that's on its way. The SF Chron, meanwhile, has begun a five-part daily series of articles basically putting the local FBI bureau and its SAC (Charles Bates) in a good light. Don't see this tieing in with you letter in Spanish from Mexico City, but one never knows.
